

THIRTIETH YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 27, 1919.

NUMBER 95.

THANKSGIVING

PROCLAMATION

Issued By Gov. Black.

Designated Thursday, November 27, Day Mentioned By President Wilson, As Day of Thanksgiving in State Of Kentucky.

"Thanksgiving day is a day for spiritual and material inventory. A day for prayer and reverent thankfulness and appreciation. One to pause from our varied occupational activities and to make a devotional survey of the blessings which an ever watchful Providence has bestowed upon the people of our nation and State.

"Although there linger with us distresses and unrest touches the world's heart because of the tragedies of the recent war, yet patient men and women have not forgotten that God is the giver of all good and perfect gifts.

"With them, hope sees our country emerging, under the providences of God, from the unequalled troubles of the immediate past to accentuate and emphasize its superior tasks and to make sure its superior achievements. The last twelve months have been replete with evidences of God's watchful care over us. Honest effort finds the earth responding with plentiful harvests, and mine and shop yielding helpful sustenance and prosperity.

"Our patriotism has been exalted by our sacrifices, our charity glorified by unstinted help to the less fortunate. The comforts of the home multiplied. Churches and schools are flourishing. The respect for law and order, an indispensable requisite of the civilized state, has, under very trying circumstances, been strengthened, the love of free institutions broadened, and the moral and educational growth of the national character quickened.

"Of all these benefits Kentucky citizenship has generously shared.

"Therefore I, James D. Black, Governor of Kentucky, hereby, pursuant to a custom followed by time and rooted in the traditions of our people, designate Thursday, November 27, 1919, the day mentioned by the President as a day of thanksgiving in this State, and I invite my fellow citizens to its appropriate and prayerful observance in church and school and home throughout the Commonwealth."

A Big Cat Fish.

Lige Hurt, of near Pollard, brought to Nicholasville a catfish weighing 60 pounds. The fish was caught on a trot line, and had swallowed a fish on the line that weighed four pounds. The fish was a white bellied, yellow tailed and black headed mud cat. It was sixty five inches long and had a monstrous mouth and big head. This is the prize fish caught in the Kentucky river in Jessamine this year. The fish was on exhibition here for several hours and attracted much attention.

It was sold to a Lexington fish market man at 25 cents per pound. —Wilmore Enterprise.

Smile, Smile, Smile.

Where in the II—I did they come from.

Come, tell me, I'd like to know; They've stripped our Old Bird of his feathers

And choked him out of his crow.

You may sometimes dope out a jury.

And how they will settle a case,

Or guess who a woman will marry,

Or pick the right horse in a race;

But you can't figure out an election.

And these words I'll permit you to quote;

You can never tell by past records

Just how a fellow will vote.

So boys, they've humbled it to us

Dished up in the latest style;

But let's take the dose that they give us

And smile, smile, smile.

—Maysville Independent.

Loses Home By Fire.

Fire from an unknown origin destroyed the home and all contents of Mr. Rouben Prather last Monday about noon. No one was at home at the time and none of the contents could be saved. He had no insurance.

Safety first—Gains the Insurance Man.

GREAT FAIR

Closes In A Blaze of Glory.

Everybody Pleased and Attendance Good.

When the great Tobacco and Corn show closed its doors last Saturday night, one of the biggest events ever pulled off in Central Kentucky passed into history. The display of exhibits were unusually large and the competition in every line was close and interesting.

The show of tobacco was the finest ever seen in the state and as predicted in these columns several weeks ago, Garrard county carried off most of the honors, both in the corn and tobacco exhibits.

Mr. Joe Reynolds was the winner of cigarette leaf, bright leaf, trash and four best hands from a single crop. This tobacco was raised on the farm of Mr. H. V. Bastin, known as the "Pattie Gill place" and is said to be the best in the county. It was grown from Kelley seed. Mr. John Darn of Mazon county won the prize in the red leaf exhibit. Mr. Reynolds having no entry in this class. Mr. O. T. Layton was a close first in every class, but the best he could do was to win three seconds. He also has some fine tobacco.

The corn exhibit was well filled and the competition keen. Mr. Ben Kelley carrying off the honors by winning first on best ten ears of white corn. Dr. Amon winning on best single ear. A complete list of all winners can be found in this article.

Had we the space we would like to describe in detail the splendid exhibits of the various merchants and business firms who had booths all of whom are loud in their praises of the management of the fair and all expressed a desire to engage booths for another year.

It is almost practically certain that this fair will be made permanent and each year it will grow both in interest and exhibits.

Fair Echoes.

Our hats are off to Messrs Peddicord and Kinnaird.

The Tobacco Warehouse was an "eye opener" to the thousands that saw it last week.

Fifty beautiful booths were on display and all showed individuality and artistic decorations.

The Women's Club made a nice sum of money on the luncheon served and are grateful to friends for patronage shown.

The hand-made quilt exhibit was larger than at the State Fair.

All entry's in this department, were filled and attracted much attention.

Hudson, Hughes and Farnau are proud of the record made by Obelisk Flour. Read their adv. in this issue.

Everybody wants the Fair made permanent and held every year. We are for it.

Smittle's Band gave delightful music and was one of the Chief attractions.

There were over 700 lights used in lighting the Warehouse during the Fair.

The Christian Church booth was popular and the chocolate served was delightful.

Let's have another Fair.

Mr. Jesse Doty, the 70 year old jig dancer, entertained the large crowd with the agility of a 16 year boy, with his dancing, while the band played "Turkey in the Straw."

Charlie Anderson is some dancer, don't you forget, while "Bud" King is in a class to himself as a "cake walker."

Mrs. R. T. Peddicord, dressed as a Gipsy and thought by many to be one, told fortunes for amusement and edification of her patrons.

1800 school children passed thru the gates Friday.

Many old acquaintances were renewed and the social features were enhanced by the bright colored decorations, the gay music and hot lunches, making it an occasion long to be remembered.

Mr. Ben Kelley was happy over winning the first prize in the corn exhibit and also pleased that the first prize tobacco was grown from Kelley seed.

Joe Reynolds, grower of the prize winning tobacco, was equally as happy for his winnings totined $125.00.

Not a criticism was heard, on the management of the Fair, which speaks well for the popular promoters.

Favorable comments and many compliments were heard from strangers, regarding the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse, all conceding it to be the best one they had ever seen.

The Soft drink man had a "soft snap" and the peanut and pop-corn man did a "land-office business".

Simmons, the Danville photographer, took a number of interior pictures, which we hope to reproduce later in this paper.

Thanksgiving Service.

The Thanksgiving services will be held this year in the Christian church, the services beginning promptly at 10:30 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. C. D. Strother, of the Baptist Church. Everybody is welcome and should attend this service.

New Delicatessen.

Mr. Tom McMillan is the genial host of the new lunch and "short order" counter, which he has just erected in the pool room of Mr. Gabe Walter. Everything most is served with neatness and dispatch and he will be pleased to see his friends at any time. Give him a trial.

Lost on Friday November 21st, small tan and white shepherd dog, has bobbed tail and scar on back of neck, will ride on any car when lost. Reward for his return.

TOBACCO

COMING IN.

Market To Open Here December 3rd.

EVERYBODY PLEASED WITH NEW WAREHOUSE.

Several loads of tobacco have already arrived at the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse, the floors have been cleared of everything used during the Fair, several workmen are now putting the finishing touches on, and by Wednesday, December 3rd, all will be in readiness for the first and grand opening of the Lancaster Tobacco market.

Thousands of people looked thru this magnificent building during the Fair and all are unanimous in agreeing that it is absolutely the best lighted, best equipped, most conveniently arranged of any they had ever seen.

Mr. Manley, of the firm of Manley and Young, Architects and Engineers, of Knoxville, who drew the plans for the entire building was here during the Tobacco and Corn show and received many congratulations. He seemed as proud of it as if he owned it all and took delight in showing those interested through the building. When approached by a representative of the Record and asked what he thought of the lighting system of the building he said:

"The lighting of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse is the best in Kentucky, and has been worked out from observation taken in over a hundred warehouses in Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee. It has been found that it is possible to get too much light as well as having too little, the ideal condition being to make the tobacco all look uniform all over the entire floor, that every man may get the price for his tobacco he is entitled to. Large skylights will not do this like many small ones symmetrically spaced in lines with the rows on the floor. Then the architects make a study to have the light all come thru the skylights at the same angle, thus making all tobacco look its true worth to the buyer, for after all the best price is going to be obtained where the buyer knows the tobacco is exactly what it looks neither better or poorer in grade."

GREAT FOX HUNT

CLOSES.

Robert Walker Wins

"ALL AGE STAKE."

The National Fox Hunters meet which closed last week at Crab Orchard, was decidedly the best in the history of the association.

The best running ever seen at any previous national hunts, were seen at this meet. The meet began on the 10th by running the Derby which ran for three days, with 45 entries, and foxes plentiful.

The derby winner being Mr. Homer Howard of Georgia.

The "All Age Stake" with competition open to the world began on Thursday and closed Saturday at 2:30 o'clock. There was 120 dogs started in this race alone, fifty per cent of the States in the Union being represented. On account of the large number of entries, seven judges were appointed to judge this stake, which was the coveted prize of the whole meet. "Abbie" a Garrard County dog, owned, trained and bred by Mr. Robert Walker. This winning dog is of the purest and best Walker breeding and is only 19 months old. "She was sired by stud dog of the Walker kennels as well as the Derby winner.

Under new rulings, "Abbie" could not be entered in the Derby stake but she easily won the James Trophy cup, for highest general average; the Hunting cup; Trailing Cup; Endurance Cup; and one cup in each class entered, winning more than any dog ever won at any previous National trials.

Taken by mistake from Balla Grocery, Monday afternoon, Nov. 24th, a large sack of groceries, and a package with name (Mrs. Nannie Lawrence) in same sack. Also another package containing merchandise. Return to Mrs. Royaton Ray or Balla Grocery. 1t-pd.

Lost on Friday November 21st, small tan and white shepherd dog, has bobbed tail and scar on back of neck, will ride on any car when lost. Reward for his return.

CIRCUIT COURT

Convened Last Monday Morning.

JURORS IMPANELED.

Judge Charles A. Hardin convened the November Term of the Garrard County Circuit Court last Monday morning. Some little trouble was had in getting the jurors, who had previously been summoned by sheriff A. K. Walker, to appear for jury service, in fact twenty-three failed to put in their appearance, and the court ordered warrants of arrests issued for all of them. They will now have to tell their troubles to Judge Hardin and perhaps draw a fine of about $15.00 for their seemingly indifference.

Judge Hardin gave strong instructions to the grand jury, who will serve for six days. The following constitute the grand and petit juries for this term of court:

GRAND JURY.

Frank Folger, Jerry Higgins, John Williams, Millard Ham, John White, William Lear, H. B. Cox, William Simpson, J. G. Foster, B. F. Kelley, Irvin Dean and Millard Meadows.

PETIT JURY.

W. T. Doolin, Jesse Doty, Dave Long, C. A. Morgan, John Duncan, Forest Calico, T. O. Hill, John Marsee, Tom Wells, J. M. Sanders, Wesley Bourne, Kemp Walker, M. H. Johnson, Frank Estes, Noah Marsee, George Deany, Ed Chandler, S. T. Sanders, John Moss, Henry Ray, C. M. Dean, C. T. Taylor, G. B. Robinson and Jim Simpson.

Commonwealth against Ben Grimes charged with the murder of Jim Grimes on the 8th, of last February, is now being tried and will take up most of Wednesday.

OBELISK FLOUR

Wins Blue Ribbons at The Fair.

Many beautiful exhibits were shown at the Garrard County Corn and Tobacco Fair and none attracted more attention than the exhibits of Cakes, Cookies, Bread, Biscuit and Pies. The Cakes, Bread and Biscuit when cut proved to be as good as they looked and many were the compliments paid to the exhibitors, who carried off the Blue Ribbons. The flour used in making the prize cakes, cookies, bread, biscuit and pies was OBELISK. This flour has again proved its worth. It is not the cheapest but the best flour on the market today. (Adv.)

LEXINGTON MAN

Gives Reasons For His Belief.

JOHNSON THINKS BENEFITS GAINED JUSTIFY GLOWING TRIBUTE PAID TRUTONA.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 25th.—"Because of relief I've gained I feel that I'm justified in saying that Trutona gave me more benefits than any other medicine I've ever taken," Russell Johnson, 66 years old, a retired furniture dealer and well known Lexington resident of 605 South Lime Street, said recently.

"For many years I've been troubled with constipation," he continued. "I had taken laxatives constantly. I would become so dizzy at times that I could hardly get around. I was nervous and restless at night—so bad I couldn't sleep. Headaches bothered me constantly."

"The relief I've gained in Trutona has caused me to hope that others will try the new medicine and become convinced as I have. My bowels act with clocklike regularity now; I don't experience the dizzy spells any more and my appetite is much better than before. I'm glad to recommend Trutona."

Mr. Johnson has voiced the opinion of thousands of people who have tried Trutona and found the perfect tonic to be unsurpassed as a reconstructive agency as well as a most successful combatant of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, nervousness, sleeplessness, and the like.

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Lancaster at R. E. McRoberts' Drug Store.

Great men, great events, great epochs. It has been said, grow as we recede from them; and the rate at which they grow in the estimation of men is in some sort a measure of their greatness.—Principal Sharp.

For Dull Mirrors.

VISITING NURSE

In Every County Dr. Lock's Plan.

Dispensary Under Direction of Best Physicians Obtainable And Traveling Clinics To Be Paid For With Red Cross Christmas Seals.

What is to be done with the money from the sale of Red Cross seals in Kentucky this year. This inquiry is heard from many persons not informed of the fact that most of the money used to fight tuberculosis by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, to provide visiting nurses to teach the victims of the plague and their families how to take care of themselves, comes from the sale of these little Red Cross Christmas seals every winter.

A visiting nurse in every county of Kentucky and a dispensary under the direction of the ablest physicians obtainable, besides traveling clinics to go from county to county where needed in the fight against tuberculosis in the State are the objects toward which Dr. J. S. Lock, executive secretary of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, is bending his energies and which the money from the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals will make possible, if enough of the seals are sold between December 1, when they are placed on sale, and December 10, when the drive for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals in Kentucky will be finished.

Some Demand For Mules.

There has been quite a little demand for good mules during the past week and several have changed hands at very satisfactory prices.

Mr. Charles Hamilton came over from North Middletown last week and succeeded in buying twenty-five head, all of them mare mules but two. He purchased of Center Brothers, eleven head that averaged $212.50 a head, a pair of Wilson Brandenburg, for $450; team of Forest Center, $392.50; One of D. D. Center for $220; pair of Clarence Beazley for $375; one from Mr. Turner for $210; R. R. Elkin one for $180; and a nice team of Jack Collins for $585, and a pair of George Marsee for $400.

Center Brothers sold a team to Ed Perkins for $440 and Lonsay Coffee sold to Bright and Fox, of Danville a nice team of mare mules for $582.50.

If, as we are told, every man is the architect of his own fortune, some people must be extremely gifted in the art of drawing crooked lines.

MORROW'S MAJORITY IS 40,176.

The last counties to report were Anderson, which gave Black 220 majority, and Floyd, which gave a majority of 182 for Morrow.

Red Cross Christmas Seal Day.

The following proclamation has been issued by Rupert Blue, Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service:

Over one hundred and fifty thousand Americans die annually from tuberculosis. This is an appalling waste of life when we consider that tuberculosis is classed as a preventable disease. Moreover, because this loss of life occurs almost entirely in the ranks of the young adult population, health authorities the world over have come to consider the control of tuberculosis as still the most pressing health problem confronting them. Every year the National Tuberculosis Association by selling Red Cross Christmas Seals raises a considerable sum of money to be used in a nation-wide campaign to combat tuberculosis. This year a special effort is being made to interest school children in this work and December fifth, sixth, and seventh have been designated as days on which the seals are to be sold in the public schools, synagogues and churches. Because of the seriousness of the situation, I trust that the campaign this year will be particularly successful.

It is urged that every state and local secretary have copies of this proclamation printed or mimeographed and mailed immediately to every school superintendent, school principal, rabbi and clergyman in the state and county. The general observance of December 5, 6 and 7th, will go far toward making this campaign a success.

A copy of this proclamation should be sent to every newspaper in the state and every county newspaper.

No effort should be spared to give this statement the widest possible publicity.

Mobile, Alabama.

The early explorers did well when they founded the French colonies, which were begun under the brothers de Bienville and d'Iberville.

Mobile lies at the mouth of the Mobile River, which is formed by the junction of the Alabama and Tombigbee rivers. Many products of the interior come down these rivers; cotton and lumber in large quantities is seen, and coal from further north.

Mobile harbor affords accommodation at her wharfs for both commercial and tourist traffic. The city of Mobile is some thirty miles from the Gulf of Mexico and it is a delightful sail up the broad winding entrance to this city—Mobile—which has a population of 75,000 souls.

From the water's edge there is a gradual rise of the land which leads to attractive hills and ravines, upon which are located beautiful southern homes—old and new—and the shell roads are a boon to the automobilist.

There are few cities in the world which possess so many beautiful streets that might be termed boulevards. Some of them resemble small portions of Paris, France or Brussels, Belgium—as it was before the present devastation from the European War.

These streets in Mobile are lined with some Mansions of a century of Nature's production—the grand old elms and water oaks, and not a few are embellished by the hoary gray hanging moss that sways with the passing breezes. Government street is the most imposing, and branching from it are many attractive park-like streets—made beautiful through the care of up-to-date civic cooperation.

There can scarcely be found a drive more beautiful—by Nature's own painting—than along Mobile Bay, by sunset in the summer time, or at Autumn it is one never to be forgotten.

Mobile is a city of education, culture and perhaps interesting conversation, yet it is a city of true hospitality, with a touch of what remains of the old regime of French, English, and Spanish. It is a city that has been "under five flags", and many of its people bear the distinctive features of their ancestors, in its many fine looking and even beautiful women, and courteous "old school" men.

Mobile is fast becoming an all-year-round resort, with fine Hotels, and all centering around its historic and beautiful Bienville Square.

Mobile is often called "The Mother of Mystics" because she was the first to originate the "Mardi Gras."

One finds out-door recreation in and around Mobile, in abundance. Small steamers ply between her suburban health resorts—beautiful Fairhope, Battles Wharf, Point Clear, Magnolia Springs and other attractive spots; which are made more beautiful by Nature's hand, and where health-giving ozone is freely given from the Gulf of Mexico.

In addition, Mobile has excellent golf links, a fine Country Club, plenty of good fishing, and automobiling over roads that cannot be surpassed.

Old Mobile is unlike any other city on the Gulf. She has her own attractions, as well as those of her surroundings. A few weeks stay there and mingling with her people cannot be but well spent. She is also a city of Clubs, and genuine hospitality. A Tourist Welcome Club, among others, heartily welcomes all visitors to this city of de Bienville and d'Iberville. —Carlyle Porter. (adv)

BAPTISTS PLAN AID

To War-Stricken Europe.

Commission Makes Study Of Situation There Which Can Be Helped Through 75 Million Campaign.

To make a careful, first-hand study of the social, economic and spiritual needs of those countries in Europe which suffered most heavily in the war and recommended how, where and to what extent these needs can be met through the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, a commission composed of Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, Dr. Z. T. Colby, editor Baptist Courier, Greenville S. C., and Rev. Everett Gill, missionary at Rome, Italy, who is returning after a leave of absence in this country, has reached England and will later go over the situations in France, Belgium, Italy, Czechoslovakia such important points in Russia as can be reached, and then go into Palestine for a study of the work in Syria, Persia and Galilee.

While $60,000,000 has been set aside for this work already, Dr. Love expresses the hope that the 75 million asked for will be so generously oversubscribed that a large surplus will be left which can be converted into a relief fund for stricken Europe. He says more than $20,000,000 could be spent with economy and high Christian purpose in the care of the widows and orphans of Baptists who were killed in the war, erecting houses of worship, building schools and the like and extending the work of the gospel in all the countries of that continent, and his parting message to his fellow Baptists of the South, on the eve of his setting sail for Europe, was that they give themselves wholeheartedly to the campaign and over-subscribe the $75,000,000 asked.

BE SURE AND COME.

What will prove to be the musical comedy treat of the season is Geo. Donahue's latest and up-to-the minute song and dance play "HENPECKED HENRY" which will appear at the Roman's Opera House next SATURDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 29th. Seldom, if ever, has this city seen such an aggregation of comedians, prima donnas and chorus girls as will be seen with "Henpecked Henry". "Henpecked Henry" is a new edition of the well known play out of the ordinary in every way. It is produced by the largest musical comedy producer in the West. Geo. Donahue was quick to realize what the theatre public wants in the line of good clean amusements. He has succeeded in launching this season, one of the brightest, catchiest, and most amusing musical comedy hits of his career.

The strike which produces the greatest good to mankind is the one which hits a hot piece of iron, the head of a nail, or otherwise aids in the work of production.

It Builds Up the Blood and Thus Improves the Appetite and Strengthens the Body.

There is but one legitimate excuse for a pale, run-down, listless child, and that is some serious disease of one or more of the vital organs, which, of course, needs the prompt attention of a competent physician. Unless such conditions exist, the weak, white youngster who takes no pleasure in romping or playing can be very materially helped by a course of that thoroughly dependable blood enricher and general tonic, Gude's Pepto-Mangen. This standard remedy for Anemia (Bloodlessness) has been continuously prescribed by physicians all over the world for nearly thirty years, to restore the weakened, watery blood to its normal condition, and thus improve appetite, add color to pale lips and cheeks and impart strength to the whole body. Gude's Pepto-Mangen can be had in both liquid and tablet form (no difference in its effect), the liquid, of course, being preferable for young children. When buying Pepto-Mangen, be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangen. (Advertisement.)

FARM ANIMALS

EXTRA FEED FATTENS CATTLE

Cottonseed Cake as Supplement to Summer Pasture Increases Materially Rate of Gain.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Feeding cottonseed cake to steers as a supplement to summer pasture increases materially the rate of gain made by the animals, causes them to finish more quickly and take on a higher degree of finish, and increases the margin between the buying and selling prices, specialists of the United States department of agriculture say in Bulletin 777, just published by the department. The bulletin is a report of experiments in fattening steers on summer pasture conducted co-operatively by the department and the Alabama experiment station in 1912 and 1913, and the Mississippi experiment station in 1915 and 1916.

All the experiments were carried out under actual and typical farm conditions. Consequently the results may be applied directly in many regions to the management and feeding of cattle on pasture. In each experiment, groups of steers were kept on pasture alone; on pasture with a supplementary feed of one-half corn chop and one-half cottonseed cake; and on pasture with a supplementary feed of cottonseed cake. The average daily gain for each animal, which may be considered the most valuable standard in judging the efficiency of rations, were 1.49 pounds for the steers getting pasture only; 1.83 pounds for the steers getting cottonseed cake with pasture; and 1.53 pounds for those on pasture supplemented by the mixture of cake and corn chop.

The initial cost of the steers per 100 pounds of the three groups was the same for any one year, but in each case the steers on pasture alone sold for a lower price. The margins between the buying and selling prices of the cattle were always in favor of those which were fed supplements with their pastures. The margins averaged less than 25 cents a hundred pounds for the steers on pasture alone, compared to 30 cents for animals which were fed cottonseed cake with pasture, and 81½ cents for the animals whose pasture was supplemented with the mixture of cake and corn chop. After the animals had been hatched inspection showed that the steers which were fed cottonseed cake or a mixture of cake and corn with pasture dressed out higher than the cattle which had pasture alone.

While the steers that had pasture alone made gains cheaply, the total gains were not large, and the steers did not take on a high finish. Their unfinished condition is reflected in the small margin on which they were sold and low dressing percentages. Thus the profits they returned were smaller than for the steers in the other two groups.

The cost of gains of steers on pasture is greatly increased by feeding cottonseed cake. It was found, but the better market price received for gaked cattle usually pays for the additional cost of feeding cake, and returns a greater average profit than is realized on the grass-fed cattle. One of the distinct advantages of supplementing pastures for concentrates is the fact that steers so handled can be finished more quickly and can be marketed earlier than steers getting grass alone. Thus the cattle can be sold before the rush of grass-fed cattle glut the market and depresses prices. Moreover, when cattle are marketed early, the pastures have time to recuperate and furnish good grazing for other stock during the fall.

There is only one case, says the bulletin, when pasture alone is preferable to pastures with concentrates. Steers of inferior quality may return more profit by grazing alone than by grazing with the addition of supplementary feeds, especially when they are on good pastures that are cheap. Scrub steers do not respond readily to the use of good feeds, and even when well finished do not command satisfactory prices in competition with well-bred cattle similarly finished. The better the quality of the steers, the safer it is to give them high-priced feeds.

Sheep Need Much Water.
An impression prevails that sheep can get along without water for long periods, but this is wrong. The sheep is no relation to a camel. They should have access to plenty of fresh, clean water.

GIVE HELP TO FALLEN HORSE

First Unhitch Him and Alleviate Fears by Talking to Him—Provide Suitable Footing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When a horse falls in harness he almost immediately struggles to regain his feet. A strong, healthy horse will not remain down voluntarily, but in his efforts to rise he may become frightened. If the driver will give the right kind of first aid he can prevent serious injury to the animal.

Held down by the harness the horse seldom has sufficient freedom to rise to his feet, though enough to struggle and injure himself by pounding his head on the ground. Accordingly the driver should calm the horse first by speaking in a reassuring tone and, by placing his knees upon the animal's neck just back of the ears, endeavor to prevent injury from struggling or from bracing his head. An intelligent horse quickly learns to place great confidence in the voice of a good driver.

The traces and breeching straps should be unfastened and the vehicle rolled back from the fallen animal. If the horse is in double hitch, the traces and yoke strap should be unfastened and the pole, vehicle, and working mate moved a short distance away. An injured horse will then regain his feet readily if he has suitable footing. In case the ground is icy, scatter some fine sand, sawdust, or straw under and in front of him. If nothing of this kind is available, spread a blanket or burlap bagging on the pavement to give him better footing as he attempts to stand.

In case the horse needs more help and encouragement, and especially if he lies broadside, roll him on to his chest, with the hind legs under the belly. Then work both front legs forward until the feet are firmly on the ground and knees flexed. If after repeated efforts and good footing he continues to fall back upon the ground there is possibly some injury to the hind parts, such as a fracture of the hip or leg, which should be examined by a qualified veterinarian.

In all efforts to assist a fallen horse do not forget that in rising to his feet he raises the head and fore parts first. This is directly opposite to the habit of the cow, which elevates the hind parts first.

Keep Only the Best Mares and Breed Them to Sound, Pure-Bred Stallions of Same Breed.

Injuries to horses are common during the winter months in cities where snow becomes packed and forms an icy coating on the pavement. In most cities above the frost belt there are times when pavements are slippery.

Asphalt is especially troublesome and when covered by a very light steel or snow makes a very treacherous footing for horses. The milkman or baker, who drove upon a clean pavement the night before, may find the streets at 4 a. m. so nearly impassable from a coat of smooth ice as to delay his deliveries very greatly or even prevent them entirely.

In country districts horses remain sharp or rough shod for a considerable time. But if they are driven much on city streets paved with stone, cement, or asphalt, from which the snow has been removed, their shoes quickly become smooth and it is difficult for the horses to keep their feet.

When the front feet slip backward a horse is likely to fall and injure his knees, while side slipping generally causes him to come down broadside. Shoeing with rubber pads, or the use of emergency appliances may lessen the chance of slipping, but as there is always the possibility of a horse falling, even when well shod, careful driving and precautions against overloading are important additional means for reducing these accidents and injuries to a minimum.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL (Harrlem Oil) has been relieving the weaknesses and disabilities due to advancing years. It is a standard medicine home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL (Harrlem Oil) is included in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the kidneys to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL (Harrlem Oil) Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease. Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL (Harrlem Oil) Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, in sealed packages.

Watering House Plants.

Plants should be watered with a spray, not with a cup or a glass. Those that can be moved should be placed where the water will not damage carpets or floors; those that cannot—such as large ferns or palms—should have something spread on the floor beneath them to catch the water as it drips. The water must be sprayed from above so that all the leaves receive it; this carries off the dust and is the only natural way for a plant to receive water.

Professional Enemies of Crocodile.

There are men whose business it is to catch crocodiles and who earn their living by that means. And whenever a human being has fallen a victim to a professional crocodile catcher is asked to help to destroy the murderer, and a large reward offered him. The majority of natives will not interfere with the reptiles, or take any part in their capture, probably fearing if they do anything of the kind they themselves may some time or other suffer for it by being attacked by a crocodile.

IN BERRY TIME

By JOSEPHINE S. BROOKS

"You seem pretty sure, Lena," Addie Corners laughed. "But millionaire heiresses have the advantage over us poorer girls."

"You'll see, girls. If you are sure that James Warrington is to spend his vacation in Creekville, I'll cure him of being a woman hater. I wonder what he looks like? Dark and nice-looking, you say? All the better. But hurry off the train, or you'll get carried out. Good-by."

Arrived at Creekville, Lena soon found herself joggling along behind her host's faithful old horse.

"I know I'll like it, knight or no knight. How pretty it is," she thought.

As the days passed Lena became a favorite with everyone. Unselfish and helpful, she at once seemed more of a tented country girl than an heiress. This she was to be found one hot day cotton-gowned, face covered with perspiration and berry-stained, picking berries in the pasture. A most bewitching picture she made.

So thought a passing autoist as he tooted his horn to arouse her.

Lena had started up, and sat staring at young James Warrington.

He called out, "Say, miss, can't you tell me some of those berries?"

"Yes, but they are awful dear, forty cents a box," she teased, trying hard to conceal her amusement.

"May I know the name of the fair berry-picker?" The man bowed low.

Lena Willoughby, curtsying gracefully, answered soberly:

"Lena Willoughby, kind sir, and yours," she asked coyly.

"James Warrington, at your service, little country lady," bowed the young man.

The girl started slightly, a gleam in her pretty blue eyes.

"May I help fill your other pan? Then I will drive you home, if I may," he pleaded.

"Perhaps—ah—won't you please. But it's so hot, and the pans are heavy," feigned the plotting miss.

Later, with the pans piled high with berries, as well as the scarf full, which Warrington stowed away safely, they started homeward.

"See here, Miss Willoughby, if your aunt is so particular of you, why not meet me in the berry pasture tomorrow, when I'll bring the scarf, you know?" spoke the artful James.

"Well—oh, just this once," said the girl, shyly. "Now please set me down on this side of the fence. Aunt won't like it if she sees you," she cautioned.

After repeated wavings the autoist sped out of view.

"I've met him, the woman-hater; a 'little country lady' has conquered him. Well, well," she triumphed.

That night a letter to her club told the girls of her wonderful success.

As vacation waned another letter rushed to the club, and it ended:

"I know you will be surprised to learn that Ja—Mr. W. and I, have promised to pick our berries together all our life. Can you believe it, he a woman hater? Here's a secret: J. L. W. doesn't dream that I am an heiress; he thinks I am a poor girl. It's so heavenly to be worshipped for one's self alone. I wish he were not wealthy. We arrive Tuesday. You'll like him, etc."

It happened on the evening after their arrival, the party given in their honor. Lena never forgot that party, where James appeared with his cousin.

"Lena, let me present my cousin, James Gordon Warrington," he announced. "I nearly said, the woman hater of fame, but since he has seen my bride-to-be, I can see his views are changing."

Lena's face went white, then red. Accustomed to controlling her emotions, she straightened and said, "I should say brothers instead of cousins, so great is the resemblance."

The pretty, soft voice grew tremulously low at the wonder of it all. Her James poor, not a millionaire, not a woman hater! How glad she was.

"I have heard of Miss Carrow, I am almost converted," James, the cousin, bowed low.

"Miss Willoughby, Jim—your mistake," corrected James.

"No mistake, James. I am Lena Willoughby Carrow, the heiress."

The man's face sobered as she begged forgiveness.

"Not here, not now," he said huskily.

Later he chided her. "How could you, Lena?"

"How could you, James!" she playfully mocked.

"But I'm a poor man," he confessed. "I'm so glad, J. G. W. can't match my poor J. L. W. To think it all matured in a berry pasture!"

"Furthered by the scarf, dear. Don't ever lose it, dear little country lady," he breathed, holding her close.

"Nor this!"

Lena held up the half-dollar. "And you kept it! You dear deceiver!" he laughed.

All the club girls could say was: You weren't so sure of the woman hater after all, were you, Lena? The rich woman hater is left for another girl to cure."

By his own acknowledgment I have converted him, or partly. Perhaps you, Addie, may effect a permanent cure," she retorted, this happy heiress.

FARM STOCK

SUCCESS IN SHEEP BUSINESS

Stomach Worm is Most Widely Distributed and Serious Trouble With Average Flock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In any system of continuous farm sheep raising, the health question is of primary importance. This question is chiefly one of internal parasites and of these the stomach worm is the most widely distributed and the most serious. Fortunately, the trouble is entirely susceptible of practical control, and the methods of prevention are exactly in line with the practices that result in most economical production. It is possible, though doubtful, that the permanent farm flock can be maintained in maximum health when grazed entirely on permanent grass pastures. A system of division of grass land into sufficient parts to allow frequent long periods without sheep and use of longer grass for cattle will assist materially. Such a plan combined with occasional use of medicine to prevent too serious infection, may prove to be practical.

The basis of success in the farm sheep business is in the frequency of changing to pastures which have not had any opportunity to become infected with stomach worms by older sheep. These frequent changes are particularly necessary during the stay of the young lambs upon the farm. The older sheep are less susceptible to the effects of the infection, though danger of their being injured thereby is not to be overlooked. The plan of frequent changes to fresh feed can be adapted advantageously to the most economical systems of using high-priced land in the rotation of crops to produce feed and forage for other kinds of livestock.

The principles of flock management for maximum health and for adaptation to other lines of farm production are illustrated in the following outline of a plan of crop production and feeding Under a 3-Year Rotation of Corn, Clover and Small Grains, on 160 Acres.

35 acres corn—To finish 20 yearling cattle and 40 hogs.
15 acres alfalfa corn, 40 acres wheat, 20 acres clover hay—loughage for 20 cows.

Change Pasture to Keep Sheep Flock Healthy.

20 yearlings, 50 ewes, 20 ewe lambs and work stock, grain for sale or exchange for other feed.
20 acres clover pasture—Season's grazing for 20 breeding cows.
20 acres permanent grass pasture—Grazing for 20 yearling cattle on feed for December shipment.
30 acres forage crops.

In the above, sheep would be grazed as follows:

First—On winter wheat.
Second—On grass pasture with yearling cattle.
Third—With cows on clover pasture.
Fourth—On clover hay after hay cut.
Fifth—On grain stubble.
Sixth—In corn fields after alfalfa cut or corn harvested.

Seventh—On winter wheat.
At other times on rape, soy beans, or other grazing crops on ten-acre field. Unused forage harvested for winter feed.

Such a plan as this allows sufficiently frequent change of pasture without any part of the flock going upon land that has previously carried sheep in the same year. The forage crop land is a safety measure for reliance in case of shortage of other feeds, and could regularly be used for carrying the reserved ewe lambs from weaning time until winter.

HEAVY HORSES STILL SCARCE

Large Number of Mares Bred Last Spring Expected to Meet Demand for Draft Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

While there is a surplus of light horses on the farms of the United States, there is still a notable deficiency in heavy, desirable draft horses, say horsemen of the United States department of agriculture. Last year they say, there was a tremendous decrease in mares bred, but during the spring of 1919 a very large percentage of good mares were bred, which is expected largely to meet the future demand for horses of the better type.

The reservoir of a new fountain pen holds as much as an ordinary small bottle of ink, and is shaped to fit the hand comfortably.

As a general thing, when a woman asks her husband not to make an exhibition of himself it is a sign that she has got over the idea that he is cute.

For cleaning water bottles, decanters and glass jugs: Cut a lemon into small pieces, put it in the article to be cleaned and shake with a little water for one minute, and it will become clear as crystal.

Esperanza Found Rubber.
It is believed that the rubber tree was discovered by a Jesuit missionary, Fr. Manuel de Esperanza. He found it while on one of his apostolic journeys among the Cimbela Indians of South America and gave it the singular name of the seringueira, because he remarked that the savages used the sap of this tree, which hardens quickly, to make rude bottles that were shaped like a syringe.

To Acquire Greatness.
The best guarantee to greatness is an intense interest in a great program. Then it is that the fellow becomes so full of the job that he hasn't time to think about whether he's great or not. He sees the thing to be done and becomes so full of how to do it that he rises without knowing that he's becoming great in the eyes of the world. So the best thing is to be filled with your job and work it until it gets the fruits.

Two of the Newest Blouses

Women, having taken a violent fancy to smocks for summer wear, have replaced a few blouses with these newer garments. The smock has not arrived at the place where it rivals the blouse in popularity, but its advance toward that stage has caused blousenners to consider it and to adapt their designs to its lines. A great many of the new blouses have a peplum and a very loose girdle at the waist so that they are very close kin to the smocks that have no waistline other than that made by a loose cord or narrow girdle placed in the most casual manner possible.

Among the blouses that extend below the waistline and some inches over the skirt there are many that have this extension only at the back and front, like those shown in the picture above. They carry a strong suggestion of the smock, and stout women like them because they make the figure look more slender than those blouses that have a peplum or the smock.

The blouse at the left is made of dark blue georgette with a very narrow binding of satin to match, about the neck. Other edges are finished with a picot and seams are hem-stitched. Slashes in the front and back are finished with picot edges and a narrow girdle of the georgette is slipped through them. This is a novel and very pretty management of the waistline. Another distinguishing new touch appears in the wide band about the flaring sleeves. An embroidery pattern in chain stitching in the same color as the blouse makes an interesting ending to this chapter in the story of new styles in blouses. At the right of the picture white crepe de chine proves once more its adaptability to practical blouses. The panels at the back and front of this blouse are finished with hems and hem-stitching, and a crushed girdle of crepe de chine lies easily about the waist. The flaring sleeves are cut into an odd shape and faced back with a band of the crepe de chine. Two little silk crochet balls call attention to the originality of the sleeve and help to make it hang well. Clusters of grapes with leaves and tendrils outlined are embroidered on the front of the blouse in three groups. As in the dark blouse, this embroidery is machine made, but in this instance it is just as effective as handwork. As harbingers of the new styles for fall these blouses do not foretell any very radical changes. A few new models have round necks higher than those in the picture, and a greater proportion of blouses in dark colors indicate that skirts will probably match the waist worn with them. But it is a little too early to do more than draw conclusions which may not prove conclusive.

For the Summer Girl.
Copenhagen blue is an admirable foil to the white frock. Voile blouses, hemmed with a device in this pale yet very effective color, have all the charm of femininity, with the distinction demanded by the modern girl.

An old Dutchman in New York had the misfortune to have a shiftless young American fall in love with his daughter. ## YOUNG PEOPLE AT WORK.

Render Nice Program at Mt. Tabor Church.

A great spirit of cooperation in the cause of Christ is being manifested by the B. Y. P. U. of Mt. Tabor and the B. Y. P. U. of Lancaster. Once the young people of our town were inactive—it is not so today. The program which they gave last Sunday night at the Mt. Tabor B. Y. P. U., is positive proof of the fact.

About forty representatives of the Union left Lancaster about five o'clock Sunday evening for the Mt. Tabor church and delivered the following program in "The Old Time Religion" way:

1. Scripture ..... Each Member.
2. Solo, vocal ..... Jack Whittaker.
3. Talk on main topic "Love" ..... Hugh Mobley.
4. THE ANALYSIS OF LOVE.
  - (a) Patience ..... Mae Johnson.
  - (b) Kindness ..... John Wood.
  - (c) Generosity ..... Lillian Estes.
  - (d) Humility and (e) Courtesy, ..... Valeria Whittaker.
  - (f) Unselfishness ..... John Sowder.
  - (g) Good temper ..... Jane Williams.
  - (h) Guilelessness ..... Lillian Estes.
  - (i) Sincerity ..... Elizabeth Middleton.
5. Solo ..... Mrs. Harry Tomlinson.

The program was very impressive—and the Mt. Tabor B. Y. P. U. treated them so nice they are going back again. Rev. Strother preached a great sermon just following the program.

And now will some kind friend please tell us who is to be our next president? We want to establish our reputation as a political wisecracker and presidential prophet by doing it out to our readers in advance of the nomination.

England admits that the Reds have won the day in Russia. They can not be beaten. Their next fruitful field of operations will be the United States, unless in the meantime the government is unrelenting in the use of the Big Stick—swings it both hands.

If, as they claim, that Indiana healer can effect radical cures by the simple process of the laying on of hands, we suggest that he give immediate attention to our crop of grasping profiteers. They can all stand a liberal application from both hands.

Why, indeed, should our great and good friend Curranza refund the money Americans pay to ransom their consular agents and other citizens? Every dollar the outlaws thus gain is just so much added to the wealth of our dear sister republic. It's a great scheme—for Mexico.

There are 60,000 Reds listed in the United States, all individually, collectively, solidly and eternally against the government. As a thrifty means of busting up this nest of hornets we suggest that they be compelled to till the soil for the benefit of those who believe in law, order and American institutions. This should be done under court sentence, in the form of punishment, and no wage should be paid them. It would break up this organization of traitors to the mouth that feeds them, and might eventually make decent citizens of a few of them.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This laxative acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates the bowels and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. As accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best. Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best laxative medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. ### ALLEN.

On Nov. 16th, 1919, at 8:30 o'clock, the Death Angel claimed Mr. J. T. Allen for its victim. He passed away peacefully into that celestial land, where there shall be no more suffering, no more deaths. He was an old soldier in the Civil War. He was married to Susan Wilmont in 1871, to this union were born 13 children, nine who are here to mourn the loss with their mother, and four have gone on before their father to greet his coming. He was 77 years and 11 months of age. Besides his wife and nine children he is survived by 56 grand children and 6 great-grandchildren.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

The Road—In New Overland 4 on Three-Point Cantilever Springs

YOU expect a bad road to ride as it looks. It did, until the introduction of the Overland 4 Springbase.

Overland 4 does not change the road, but it does change the manner in which you can ride on it. It gives you comfort instead of discomfort. It gives you a smooth, sailing sensation instead of bouncing and swaying.

The Diagonal attachment of Three-Point Cantilever Springs at the ends of a 130-inch Springbase gives long wheelbase road steadiness. Yet Overland 4 retains all the advantages—lightness, economy, and ease of handling, of 100-inch wheelbase.

This means an altogether new standard of riding comfort, a noteworthy reduction in the wear and tear which lessens the efficiency of a car. The new springs give longer life to every part and thus minimize upkeep and replacement costs.

Tires wear longer because cushioned against hammering blows. Light weight means marked economy in gas, oil and running expense.

Overland 4's equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting to Demountable Rims.

Come in and see this remarkable car. Ask for booklet. Overland 4 Touring, $845; Roadster, $845; Coupe, $1325; Sedan, $1375. Prices f. o. b. Toledo.

WALNUT STREET.

DANVILLE, KY.

We wish to announce to the Tobacco Growers adjacent to the Danville Tobacco Market that we will open our Warehouse for the sale of Tobacco on

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3

We will receive Tobacco on and after, Monday, November 17.

It gives us great pleasure to inform you that Tobacco in North Carolina and all Eastern Markets is much higher this season than ever before and we see no reason why the Kentucky Tobacco should not sell at High Prices. With the outlook of Prices being high, it is more necessary than ever that you be very careful in selecting a market to sell your Tobacco on where there is strong competition and assurance of getting the highest market price at all times. This we guarantee to do. We have one of the strongest corps of buyers in the state—all of the big companies are represented on our market, buying direct, thereby eliminating the middle man.

In order to care for the ever-growing market there has been erected in Danville a large and up-to-date Redrying Steam Plant, which will be worth a great deal to the farmers who sell their Tobacco on the Danville Market. These people will be big buyers on all grades of Tobacco, thereby creating new competition.

In order to avoid the congestion in the handling of Tobacco, which prevailed last season, we have built a big annex to our present Warehouse, which enables us to handle and sell your Tobacco to a much better advantage than ever before.

Our Mr. Ralph Pitt, who has had twenty-six years of actual experience in the operation of Tobacco Warehouses is in a class to himself and if you will bring your first load to us he will thoroughly demonstrate to you that it will be money in your pocket to sell your tobacco with us.

We wish to announce that Mr. Holland, better known as "Dock" will be our Auctioneer again this season, also J. Lee Murphy who has been connected with the Danville Tobacco Market for the past ten years will be associated with us this season and will be glad to serve his many friends at FENNER'S WAREHOUSE. Thanking you in advance and trusting you will visit our opening sale on DECEMBER 3rd,

We are Yours Very Truly,

Fenner's Warehouse

FENNER AND PITT, Owners and Proprietors.

Walnut Street, Danville, Kentucky.

P. S. If you expect to sell on opening day be sure to give Fenner's Warehouse a trial.

Amplifies Sound.
In a sound amplifier invented by a California scientist the fall of a feather makes a noise like a wrestler thrown upon a mat.

Lavender Smokers.
Long before tobacco was known or smoked, sweet lavender was a favorite smoking mixture. Pipes have been dug up in Roman settlements, adorned with base-reliefs picturing the lavender plant. From which it is surmised that the Romans smoked lavender, which, according to writers of the time, is said to produce a feeling "active, ardent, and vigorous."

Life Not Merely Lapse of Years.
The mere lapse of years is not life. To put out and drink and sleep; to be exposed to the darkness and the light; to pass round in the mill of habit; and turn the wheel of wealth; to make reason our bookkeeper and turn thought into an implement of trade—this is not life. In all this, but a poor fraction of the consciousness of humanity is awakened; and the sanctities still slumber which make it most worth while to be.—James Martineau.

Keep out of the sugar bowl, kiddy. Ask your daddy for his pocketbook instead.

What, we wonder, has become of the old time reformer? Has he, too, been reformed?

Ineffective Holiering.
"De msh dat holiers about his beln jes' as good as any other man," said Uncle Eben, "mos' generally ain' doin' enough useful work to prove his argument."

Miner's Inch.
A miner's inch is a unit of measurement of water used in irrigation, and varies considerably to different states. In Arizona the miner's inch is equal to one-fourth of a cubic foot per second.

To Remove Ink Stains.
Ink stains on white fabrics can be removed with peroxide of hydrogen. Drop it on the stain with a medicine dropper or, if it is a large spot, pour it on slowly from a spoon. As this preparation has a bleaching effect, great care must be exercised if used on colored materials.

Don't discard your sunny disposition, sister. Saur milk never attracts the honey bee—or boy.

Our wife is on a strike. She wants a sealskin coat and we want a farm, and we just can't agree on which it is to be.

They insist on telling us that we Americans are a dying race. It may be true, brother, it may be true, but the size of our grocery bill says no, no, no!

A Chicago woman doctor advocates making the wife a full partner in business affairs as a means of adjusting marital troubles. In some cases, we imagine, it is wholly unnecessary—the wife is the whole thing.

The soviet government of Russia has decreed that all illiterate persons between the ages of 17 and 50 must learn to read and write within six months, failing which they will be deprived of their work and will be placed in a "lower fool category." This, it would seem, is reaching the point of the refinement of cruelty.

Now we are baffled squarely between the eyes with the startling intelligence that the new Paris gowns are entirely waistless. Fie, fie, sisters! What next? We poor men are suffering agonies from eye strain as it is, and we simply can not survive any more allopathic doses. We shudder with indescribable terror at the approach of the next scream of fashion—which, we fear, will even be skirtless.
